ADDRESS CORRECTION REQUESTED RUSH — TIME DATED

Graduate students and faculty are invited to submit applications for the following Fulbright awards. Call x62310 for details unless otherwise noted.

• Fulbright Graduate Study Abroad: To increase mutual understanding between the people of the US and other countries. Applicants must be US citizens and hold a bachelor's, MD degree or equivalent. Candidates may not hold a PhD. Deadline: September 2.

• Fulbright Collaborative Research Grants: For teams of two or three US graduate students or recent postdoctoral researchers. Applicants must be US citizens, have received the majority of their high school and undergraduate education in the US and hold a bachelor's, MD degree or equivalent. Those with PhD degrees earned no earlier than June 1984 also are eligible. Deadline: December 1.

• Fulbright Scholar Awards: Grants available in over 100 countries in research and university lecturing. Scholars in all academic ranks are eligible to apply. Applicants must be US citizens, have a PhD or comparable, university or college teaching experience and proficiency in a foreign language. Application deadlines for 1986: June 15 for Australasia, India, Latin America, Caribbean; September 15 for Africa, Asia, Europe, Middle East; November 1 for institutional proposals for the Scholar-in-Residence Program.

For further information and application forms contact the Council for International Exchange of Scholars, 11 Dupont Circle NW, Washington, DC, 20036-1257, 202/939-5401.

MOVES

Ginna Bunker, Sabbatical Housing Clearing House, has moved and has a new telephone number, 863-9004.

UCSF researchers are seeking volunteers who are suffering from social anxiety or the death of a loved one for a study designed to understand the relationship between the conscious and unconscious mental processes.

The project, conducted by the Center for the Study of Neuroses at LPPI, needs subjects, preferably between the ages of 21 and 45, with recurrent intrusive or involuntary ideas or emotional states—for example, those who experience panic and anxiety at the prospect of presenting work to a supervisor.

Researchers also are looking for individuals who have lost a loved one within the last three years and who continue to be troubled by pangs of emotion related to images and memories of the deceased.

Selected subjects will have an indepth psychological evaluation, free of charge, and will be paid $10 per hour for participating in interviews and tests that will explore early memories, dreams, imagery and stream of consciousness.

For further information call Jess Ghannam, MD, or Henry Markman, MD, at x67510.

UCSF researchers have begun a three-year study of the Medicare program in Long Beach and Portland.

The researchers are surveying residents to find out the number and types of health problems, what health services are received, the costs and who pays the bills. Information from the study will be used to evaluate existing and possible future health services for Medicare beneficiaries, according to project directors Robert Newcomer, PhD, and Charlene Harrington, PhD, of the UCSF Institute for Health and Aging, which is conducting the study for the US Department of Health and Human Services.

Data also will be used to make recommendations to Congress regarding improvements in services and better ways to fight the rising costs of health care, said the researchers.

A computer file of all reported cancer cases diagnosed from 1973 to 1984 in five Bay Area counties is available to UC staff, students and faculty through the General Tumor Registry, Cancer Research Institute.

The file contains information on 150,000 cancer patients from the counties of San Francisco, Alameda, Contra Costa, San Mateo and Marin, including types of tumors, extent of disease, and age, sex and race of patient. Personal identifying data has been deleted to preserve confidentiality.

For further information on how to access the cancer computer file, call Alan R. Houser, Room U 585, x62331.

UCSF is seeking persons with mild hypertension for a study comparing the effectiveness of a commonly used blood pressure medication to a non-drug treatment that involves lifestyle and behavior changes.

The UCSF Mild Hypertension Project now is screening persons between the ages of 18 and 59 with high blood pressure for the free study. Asthmatics, diabetics using insulin and those currently using medications for lowering blood pressure are not eligible. Those now taking blood pressure medication may, however, be eligible if they are willing to stop the medication for one month.

The project's principal investigators are Thomas J. Coates, PhD, and Eliseo Perez-Stable, MD, of the Division of General Internal Medicine. Persons interested in the project should call x65446.

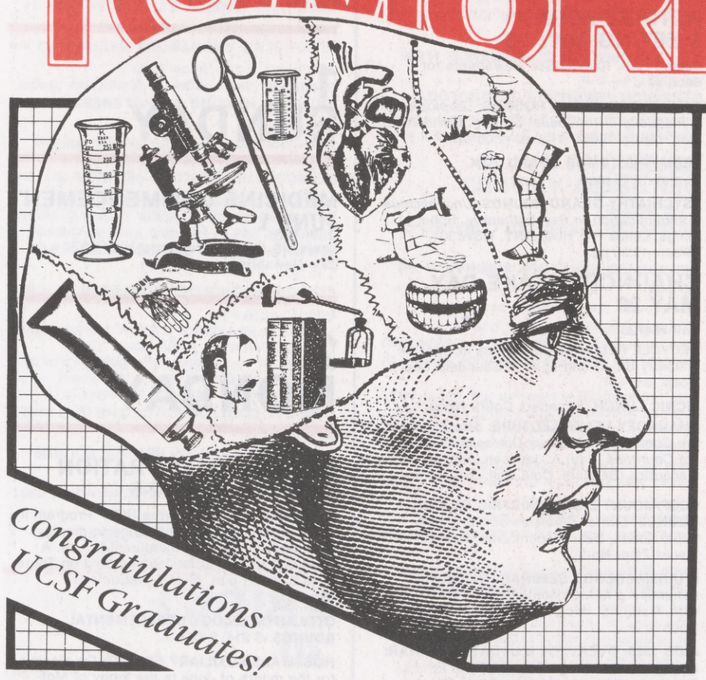
DEADLINE

Deadline for the next issue of Today & Tomorrow, covering the time period June 7-27, 1986 (three weeks) will be Tuesday, May 27, 11 a.m. Please send your copy to Allen Balderson, News & Public Information Services, 532 Parnassus Ave., Rm. 300, x61541 or x62557.

Vol. 12 No. 10, May 24-June 6, 1986

TODAY & TOMORROW

MAY 24-JUNE 6, 1986



One of three senior medical students—John Richard Frankeny II, Georg Emlein or Mark W. Satterfield—will be the recipient of the highest honor a graduating medical student at UCSF can receive, the celebrated Gold-Headed Cane. The award will be presented at the School of Medicine Commencement on Sunday, June 1, at 10:30 a.m. at the Louise K. Davies Symphony Hall.

The recipient of the Cane will be the student who best represents the qualities of a "true physician," as judged by fellow students and faculty. All three students will be inducted into the Gold-Headed Cane Society at a ceremony the previous evening.

In addition to the student honorees, outstanding faculty are elected for honorary membership in the Society. This year's distinction goes to Ephraim P. Engleman, MD, medical director of the Rosalind Russell Arthritis Center.

The Gold-Headed Cane Ceremony would not be complete without the William J. Kerr Gold-Headed Cane Lecture, to be delivered this year by Lloyd H. Smith, Jr., MD, associate dean. His topic will be "A Caning is Good for You."

One hundred forty-one students will receive their MD degrees at the graduation ceremony. National Public Radio commentator Ellen Gilchrist will make the keynote presentation, entitled "The Arts and Sciences—a 2500-Year-Old Love Affair." Graduating student speakers will be Karen Jo Doyle, PhD, and Michael Alan Sweeney, MD.

As part of the ceremony, 11 faculty members, selected by graduating students, will receive "Excellence in Teaching Awards," and 8 residents will be recognized as outstanding house officers. Faculty recipients of the Kaiser Award for Excellence in Teaching also will be announced.

Chancellor Julius R. Krevans will confer degrees upon 239 graduates—40 BS, 186 MS and 13 DNS—during the School of Nursing commencement ceremony on Saturday, June 7, at 10 a.m. at the Veterans' Theatre, Marin Civic Center in San Rafael.

Rheba deTornyay, EdD, professor and dean at the University of Washington School of Nursing, will be the keynote speaker. Student messages will be delivered by Jan Reddick, BS; Louise M. Bourassa, MS; and Katherine Crabtree, DNS.

Marshals for the ceremony will be Jeanne Hallburg, PhD (DNS students); Laura J. Reif, PhD (MS students); James W. Grout (BS students); school marshal June T. Bailey, EdD, associate dean, academic affairs; and honorary marshal Helen Chesterman, MS, '28, winner of this year's Distinguished Alumna Award.

Carroll L. Estes will be named the Helen Nahm Research Lecturer and the John B. Harris Award will be given to Irma Ruth Hagans, MS (see this issue of Today & Tomorrow for complete stories); the Florence Nightingale Award will be presented to Catherine R. Campbell; the Outstanding MS Student Awards to Deborah Hamolsky, Gayle Riedmann and Christine Wachsmuth; and the Distinguished Dissertation Awards to Mary Hartfield and Lucy Sammons.

Mentor of the Year and two Teachers of the Year awards also will be given at the ceremony.

The UCSF Graduate Division will award diplomas in separate commencement exercises on Friday, June 6, at 2 p.m. in Cole Hall.

Forty-four students will receive their degrees, including 24 PhD, 7 DMH, 7 DNS, 2 MA in Medical and Biological Illustration and 4 MCLS (Masters in Clinical Laboratory Science).

World-renowned medical ethics authority Albert R. Jonsen, PhD, UCSF professor, ethics, pediatrics and medicine, will deliver the commencement address, entitled "Technology in the Service of Care."

A reception for graduates and guests will follow the ceremony.

NEWS BRIEFS

The faculty of the UCSF School of Nursing have chosen one of the country's most highly acclaimed scholars in the field of aging, Carroll L. Estes, PhD, as the Sixth Helen Nahm Research Lecturer. Her presentation, "Public Policy and Aging: A Research Perspective," will be on Friday, June 6, from 10 a.m. to noon in HSW 301. A reception will follow in the Millberry Union Residence Lounge.

Estes is professor of sociology, chair of the Department of Social and Behavioral Sciences and director of the Institute for Health and Aging at UCSF. Her research and publications, spanning two decades, have examined many important issues relating to the elderly.

The Helen Nahm Research Lecture Award recognizes a UCSF School of Nursing faculty member or graduate who has made an outstanding contribution to nursing science and research. It honors Helen Nahm, professor emeritus and dean of the School of Nursing from 1958 to 1969, who developed the clinical specialty master's program and the first comprehensive professional doctoral nursing degree program in the U.S.

One hundred and three UCSF employees will be honored with University Service Awards on Thursday, June 5, at 3 p.m. in the Millberry Union combined lounges.

The ceremony will honor 43 employees who have completed 25 years of University service and another 60 who retired in 1985. The entire campus community is invited to a champagne reception following the ceremony.

The graduating class of the UCSF Program in Medical and Biological Illustration will display their work the week of June 2 at the Faculty/Alumni House. A reception to meet the artists—Richard Adler, William Dutton and Therese Trebaol—will be held on Thursday, June 5, from 4:30 to 7 p.m.

The works will include medical and scientific illustrations, photographs and films. At the reception, guests will have the opportunity to view the video "Face to Face: Interviews with Persons Requiring Maxillofacial Prosthetics as a Form of Rehabilitation," and the film "Penile Erection: Hemodynamics and Neurophysiology."

The UCSF Program in Medical and Biological Illustration is a three-year program leading to a Master of Arts degree. Coursework includes basic science instruction, advanced illustration, video production and film technology. Ruth C. Wakerlin is program director.

Irma Ruth Hagans, an MS candidate in the School of Nursing, is the recipient of the 1986 John B. Harris Award. The award is presented annually to a UCSF graduating student who best exemplifies the qualities of the late teacher, physician and civil rights advocate.

Hagans, who is completing her final year in gerontological nursing, is particularly interested in working toward accessible long-term care for elderly Blacks. She has maintained an active role in the Graduate Students Association, the Black Student Health Alliance and the Bay Area Black Nurses Association.

Eight UCSF faculty and teaching assistants have been honored by the School of Pharmacy with the annual Long Foundation Awards for Excellence in Teaching.

The awards, which were presented during a campus ceremony on May 9, total $4,300. They are a gift from the Joseph M. Long Foundation and are designed to foster and encourage good teaching by recognizing teachers who have demonstrated an ability and a willingness to devote special effort to stimulate students in the achievement of the educational goals of the school.

This year's Long Foundation Award winners are:

- Diane S. Colby, PhD, assistant professor, biochemistry/biophysics;
- Linda L. Hart, PharmD, associate clinical professor, clinical pharmacy; director, Drug Analysis Information Service;
- Thomas N. Tozer, PhD, professor, pharmacy and pharmaceutical chemistry;
- Denis A. Kitayama, PharmD, assistant clinical professor, clinical pharmacy; volunteer faculty member, UCSF satellite program at UC-Irvine/Long Beach Memorial Hospital;
- Scott Fields, PharmD, resident, clinical pharmacy;
- Donald Chang, graduate student, pharmaceutical chemistry;
- Kellie Hom, graduate student, pharmaceutical chemistry;
- Barbara Swanson, graduate student, pharmaceutical chemistry.

Also during the award ceremony, fourth-year students Ambrose Carrejo, Doris Sue and Donald Chang were honored with the Dean's Award for Academic Excellence for having, respectively, the three highest GPAs.

UCSF faculty dominated the annual meetings of the Association of American Physicians (AAP), the American Society for Clinical Investigation (ASCI), and the American Federation for Clinical Research (AFCR), held in early May in Washington, DC.

School of Medicine Dean Rudi Schmid, MD, was elected president of the AAP, and Associate Dean Lloyd H. Smith, Jr., MD, was awarded the George M. Kober Medal, the most prestigious award given for leadership in and contribution to academic internal medicine. He was introduced by Marvin Sleisenger, MD, professor and vice chair, medicine.

Cancer Research Institute Director Edwin C. Cadman, MD, gave the major talk to the American Federation for Clinical Research as outgoing president and Steven A. Schroeder, MD, chief, Division of General Internal Medicine, gave the major address as outgoing president of the Society for Research and Education in Primary Care Internal Medicine.

Stephen H. Embury, MD, associate professor, medicine, and chief of hematology at SFGH, was elected to membership in the American Society for Clinical Investigation.

Five UCSF faculty led major symposia: Merle Sande, John D. Baxter, J. Michael Bishop, Jay A. Levy, and Stanley B. Prusiner, plus there were some 60 scientific papers presented by UCSF faculty.

Finally, Bruce Scharschmidt, MD, professor, medicine, was appointed the new editor of the Journal of Clinical Investigation, making this the first time that the journal is edited by someone from the west coast.

If you're a Gershwin fan you won't want to miss the benefit for the Friends of the UCSF Child Care/Study Center on Friday, May 30, at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium at 3333 California Street.

Donald Pippin's San Francisco Pocket Opera, a 20-year tradition in the city, will present an evening of songs from Gershwin's "Okay!" and favorite arias, including "Someone to Watch Over Me," "Do, Do, Do, What You've Done, Done, Done Before," "Fidgety Feet" and "Clap Yo' Hands." This is the first major UCSF cultural function to take place at the UCSF-Laurel Heights campus.

A reception, hosted by Chancellor and Mrs. Julius R. Krevans, will follow the performance. Tickets are $50. For further information call Katie Menees, x64421.

The UCSF Retiree Association officially will be launched at a meeting on Chauncey Leake Day, Thursday, May 29, at 10 a.m. in Toland Hall. The meeting will include an election of officers and adoption of the association's bylaws. Guest speaker Chancellor Krevans will discuss campus beautification. The new retiree association is donating a tree to the campus, to be planted at a later date.

The News and Public Information Services Department has walked off with nine top awards from CASE (the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education)—the most prestigious public relations competition for colleges and universities in the US, it was announced by Assistant Chancellor-Communications Michela Reichman.

Two gold medals were awarded—one for "Superior Achievement" in news coverage, submitted by News Director Carol Fox, the other for "Total Institutional Image," based on multiple and diverse ways the campus has used the UCSF logo, which was designed by Henry Wachs. Wachs also received a silver medal in the "Top Ten Designers of the Decade" category for his work on the UCSF logo and publications.

A silver was awarded for "Total Publications Program," and two more silvers for the UCSF Magazine—"Best Articles of the Year" (on animal research) and "Best Special Issue" (on the School of Pharmacy). The UCSF Magazine also was a runner-up for the prestigious Sibley Award sponsored by Newsweek magazine. It was submitted by Jeff Miller, managing editor.

Health education TV public service spots, produced by Janet Norton, director of institutional relations, for the UCSF Medical Center, won a silver, as did the Publications Office's "Founders Day" printed materials, produced by Carol Kummer, art director, for Alumni Affairs Coordinator Mark Jordan and Assistant Chancellor Frances Petrocelli. The 1984/85 UCSF Annual Report, produced in cooperation with the Development Department, won a bronze medal.

In addition, Jordan won a bronze medal for "Improvement in Alumni Programs," which compared the program for 1982/83 with 1985/86.

Paintings by San Francisco artist Jane Culp will be on display June 9 through August 29 at the Faculty/Alumni House.

Featured will be the large acrylic works from Culp's recent landscape series, "The Landsend Suite." The series was inspired by what the artist describes as the "big nature forces" of the area at the tip of San Francisco.

In her more than 20 years of landscape interpretation, Culp has lived and worked in both New York and San Francisco, and has exhibited extensively in both locations. She is the recipient of an alternate Fulbright Award, and slides of her paintings are housed in the Smithsonian Museum.

In recent years, Culp's involvement with art and interest in community service have coincided: She is in her fourth year as a California Arts Council Artist in Residence, providing painting workshops for senior citizens.

The public is invited to a reception for the artist on Wednesday, June 11, from 4:30 to 7 p.m. at the Faculty/Alumni House.

Carl Grunfeld, assistant professor, medicine: Elected a fellow, National Medical Society.

Paul Volberding, assistant professor, medicine; chief, medical oncology; director, AIDS Clinic, SFGH: Asked to serve as a member on the National Academy of Sciences/Institute of Medicine panel, the American Medical Association AIDS Policy panel; consultant, Committee for NIH's Responses to AIDS.

Troy Daniels, professor, stomatology: Session chair & histology review paper, First International Seminar on Sjogren's Syndrome, Copenhagen.

Nathan Malamud, professor emeritus, psychiatry, neurology & pathology: Received the Distinguished Service Award of the American Association of Neuropathologists.

Patricia Caldera-Muñoz, School of Pharmacy; Joseph McGillis, medicine, both visiting research postdoctoral fellows: Named new UC President's Fellows.

Lydia Temoshok, assistant professor, psychiatry: Invited scientist, American Cancer Society's Annual Science Writers' Seminar, Daytona Beach, Mar. 22-26; appointed to the editorial board, Psychology & Health: An International Journal.

APPOINTMENTS

Marylin J. Dodd: Interim chair, Department of Physiological Nursing, School of Nursing. She came to UCSF in 1981 as an assistant clinical professor, becoming an associate clinical professor in 1984. Dodd's current research interests involve the role of nurses in radiation therapy departments. She received the Teacher of the Year Award from the School of Nursing in 1984 and recently was nominated for the Schering Excellence in Research Award from the Oncology Nursing Association. She replaces Ada Lindsey, who has been appointed dean of the UCLA School of Nursing.

Donald Fink: Interim chair, Division of Family & Community Medicine. Acting chair of the department since 1985, Fink came to UCSF in 1963 as assistant professor, pediatrics, becoming professor of pediatrics and family & community medicine in 1972. He also is the medical director of outpatient services at SFGH and holds a faculty appointment in the School of Nursing. Fink is a former chief of the executive committee of the SFGH medical staff and has served as founder and codirector of the pediatric nurse associate program.

Janet Murphy: Appointed manager, UCSF Foundation. She held various positions in the Chancellor's Office from 1969-73, including research associate, and manager of both the Gifts and Endowments Office and the Chancellor's administrative office. During the last several years, she has owned her own antique business and managed a book store in SF.

VISITORS

Pietro Vajro, assistant professor, pediatrics; NATO Advanced Research Fellow, pediatric gastroenterology. A visitor from the Second School of Medicine, Naples, he will be leaving UCSF at the end of May after two years of studying various developmental aspects of bilirubin metabolism with M. Michael Thaler, professor, pediatrics, and Norbert Blanckaert, associate professor, laboratory medicine and medicine.

IN MEMORIAM

James F. Holloran, Jr.: A UCSF family practice resident and fellow from 1970-72, he worked at the outpatient screening & drop-in clinic in 1974. A founder of the Haight-Ashbury community clinic, Holloran was head of emergency services at Richmond General Hospital and an early member of the Bay Area Physicians for Human Rights, an organization of gay doctors.

Robin Cain: A first-year UCSF student, parent/child program, Department of Physiological Nursing, School of Nursing. She worked part-time as a staff nurse in the Pediatric ICU and Bone Marrow Transplant Unit since 1985.

Jacob J. Yee, School of Medicine, '31. A physician and longtime civic leader in Oakland's Chinese community, Yee served with the US Army in China during WWII, helping establish an American hospital for Chinese troops. After the war, he practiced medicine in Oakland until his retirement in 1970.

Angela M. Quilici, School of Medicine, '27. She completed her internship and residency in 1929 at SFGH, became a clinical instructor of medicine in 1937 and an assistant clinical professor in 1954. Quilici worked primarily at the Tuberculosis/Chest Clinic at SFGH and volunteered at St. Anthony's Clinic until her retirement in 1982. The family requests that contributions be made to the SF Lung Association, 833 Market St., SF 94103, or a favorite charity.
